Being a plan fiduciary is more than just selecting and monitoring plan investments. In today's environment it is more important than ever for fiduciaries to understand their responsibilities when selecting and managing a service provider relationship.

Corporate decision-makers, face a whole new set of challenges in today's marketplace as defined benefit plans wane from their traditional use and are replaced by defined contribution plans with very different plan structure and extended purpose. Learn about these changes - and what changes your plan may need to satisfy the evolving goals of a mature and diverse workforce. This thought provoking presentation will explore the various issues plan sponsors face and identify effective strategies that can be utilized to meet those challenges.
